Tips to Hack Your Home

Check out these household hacks to level up your life!

Use a rubber band to open stubborn jars: That jar lid acting like it's the boss of you? Wrap a rubber band around it and show it who's really the boss.

Keep a bowl of coffee grounds in the fridge: Fridge smelling funkier than a teenager's gym bag? Stick a bowl of coffee grounds in the fridge and watch the funk disappear.

Use chalk to remove grease stains: Grease stains on clothes are no match for chalk. Rub it on, let it absorb the grease, and toss those clothes in the wash.

Use a hairdryer to remove stickers: Stickers clinging to surfaces like they've taken root? Blast 'em with a hairdryer and watch them surrender.

Organize cables with binder clips: Tired of your desk looking like a cable jungle? Clip those suckers with binder clips and show those unruly wires who's in charge.

Store sheet sets inside pillowcases: Keep your linen closet from looking like a tornado hit it by storing sheet sets inside their pillowcases. No more digging around for matching sets!

Use a tension rod to organize cleaning products under the sink: Under-sink storage a hot mess? Install a tension rod, hang your cleaning supplies, and watch that clutter vanish.
