Peeping The Leafs

The fall colors are coming out and there are plenty of fall drives across the valley to check out the red and orange maples and yellow aspens across the state.

Logan Canyon

Pick up Highway 89 in Brigham City and take it all the way into Logan Canyon, passing by Utah State University on your left. The canyon is nearly 40 miles long and will take you into Garden City and Bear Lake.

Big Cottonwood Canyon

Just 25 minutes away from Downtown Salt Lake, to get there take the I-215 belt route and follow the signs to Brighton and Solitude ski areas (SR-190). The canyon spans 14 miles to the loop at Brighton.

Guardsman Pass

About a mile before you hit the Brighton loop up Big Cottonwood Canyon, make a hard left to take Guardsman Pass. The road travels 11 miles, going through Deer Valley Resort and down into Park City. Alternatively, from Park City take Deer Valley Dr. to Marsac Ave. and follow the road to Guardsman Pass.

Alpine Loop

Alpine Loop connects American Fork Canyon and Provo Canyon. Take I-15 South to Lehi and exit 284 (SR-92, Timpanogos Hwy.).

Nebo Loop

A 38-mile byway around Mount Nebo between Payson and Nephi. Travel south on I-15 to Payson, exiting at 800 S. Make a right onto 600 E to get onto Nebo Loop Rd.

Facing Your Darkest Fears

Ready for a night of chills and thrills? The local haunted houses are open for spooky season, check out these popular attractions.

Salt Lake Fear Factory

666 W 800 S, Salt Lake City
Open Friday - Saturday until October 3, then open Wednesday - Sunday through Nov. 2
Housed in the former Portland Cement Works factory, the attraction consists of 6 buildings up to 6 stories high with 2 underground passages. If you live downtown, the Zombie Bus does pickups every 30 minutes from the south end of The Gateway. Monday's feature Grimm Ghost Tours, which highlight the real haunted history of the property.

Nightmare on 13th

300 W 1300 S, Salt Lake City
Open Friday - Saturday in September and daily from Oct. 3 - Nov. 2 (Closed Sunday's)
One location with 2 haunted attractions: Nightmare Haunted House and Institute of Terror. Want a less scary experience? Their afternoon Day Haunt on Saturday's removes the jumps, scares and actors from the haunted house for a friendlier atmosphere.

Castle of Chaos

7980 S State Street, Midvale
Open Friday - Saturday until Sept. 25, then daily through Nov. 2 (Closed select Wednesday's)
The main haunted house has five levels of fear from 'your glow wand will keep monsters at a distance' to 'the ultimate hands-on horror.' For more, check out their escape rooms and Krusebel Extreme Haunt.
