Wonderful Weird Utah

From quirky roadside art to surreal desert installations, these offbeat landmarks prove Utah's landscape is anything but ordinary.

9th and 9th Whale

900 S 1100 E, SLC

A beloved roadside sculpture breaching in a burst of color, this playful whale has become one of Salt Lake's quirkiest icons and a favorite photo stop.

Spiral Jetty

Rozel Point peninsula, Great Salt Lake

Created by Robert Smithson, this massive earthwork coils into the lake, changing appearance with water levels and salt crystals.

Sun Tunnels

Great Basin Desert, Little Pigeon Rd, Wendover

A remote installation by Nancy Holt, these concrete tunnels align with the sun during solstices, blending art, astronomy, and landscape.

Metaphor: The Tree of Utah

I-80, 95 miles west of SLC

Rising from the salt flats, this colorful sculpture stands alone against the stark desert, resembling a tree dotted with bright spheres.

Gilgal Sculpture Garden

749 E 500 S, SLC

A hidden garden filled with symbolic stone carvings and unusual sculptures, equal parts spiritual, strange, and fascinating.

Remix Your Walls

Hanging pictures doesn't have to involve nails and stress. Check out these simple, flexible ways to style your walls.

Decorative/Washi Tape Framing

Create removable, damage-free frames directly on walls. It's available in many colors and patterns for easy customization.

Stickable Picture Tiles

Peel-and-stick panels that let you mount photos without nails or tools. They're lightweight, reusable, and easy to rearrange.

Printed Decals

Printed wall decals apply directly to surfaces for a smooth, painted-on look. They peel off cleanly without residue, making them perfect for bold accent walls and temporary room updates.

Gallery Ledges

Gallery ledges allow you to display framed photos without multiple wall holes. Simply lean and layer frames for a flexible arrangement that can be updated anytime.

Wire and Clip Displays

Wire and clip displays use strings, cables, or pegboards with clips to hang photos in a casual, changeable way. They're affordable, lightweight, great for rotating memories and easy to refresh over time with new photos anytime you like easily.
